Drone Reporting

The recent surge in drone sales was highly publicized in 2015; an estimated 700,000 drones were expected to be purchased in the United States alone. A report released in December by the FAA disclosed at least 241 drone encounters last year met the FAA's definition of a "near-collision", or flying within 500 feet of an aircraft.

The drone issue isn't limited to low altitude. In the period between June and July 2015, over 250 drones were reported by flight crews operating at altitudes over 10,000 feet!

The FAA encourages pilots to report drone encounters. Pilots who encounter a drone in the area can report the event to the Harrisburg FSDO at 717.774.8271.

Chuck Brewer, with the PennDOT Department of Aviation, would also like to be made aware of any drone encounters in the area. He can be contacted at 717.705.1237.
